GAUNT STARVATION SAID TO FACE IRELAND

FAILURE OF THE POTATO CROP IS WORSE THAN 1847

THOUSANDS IN '47 DIED BY THE ROADSIDE OF STARVA-TION

CONDITIONS IN GENERAL, HOW-EVER, HAVE NOT ADVANCED THAT FAR

(By United Press)
Dublin, Jan. 30.—Eye witnesses to distress and suffering in western Ireland due to the failure of the potato crop brought word to Dublin today that underlying conditions in the blighted areas are indeed worse than in the black year of 1847 when thousands eventually died by the roadside of starvation.

Conditions in the present famine have not yet advanced to that extreme, but those who saw conditions in Connemara and Donegal this week declare that the fatalities of 1847 will be exceeded unless relief measures are immediately augmented.

Ill-clad women and children, deprived of warmth and food through the excessive rainfall of the past week, are living in fireless hovels with practically nothing to eat. The men are in despair with the potato crop blighted and fuel well nigh unobtainable.

Along the western and northwestern coast, where housing conditions normally are exceedingly poor, they now are appalling. Besides the ravages of heavy rains, fierce gales have swept roofs off many cottages in Connemara.

As one passes from town to town along the western seaboard sights of genuine famine are very apparent. Children with sunken cheeks lie in sodden beds of hay, huddled together for warmth and crying for food.

Nurses are busy throughout the stricken areas fighting the first signs of pestilence, while many are seeking volunteers to try to get food to the sufferers.

The Free State government is co-operating in attempts to organize coal distribution.

In normal times the peat bogs furnish fuel to the west, but now the cut peat still lies in the bogs, rain-soaked and unfit for fuel, while the people cut what wood they can. In Kerry they are burning railroad ties, which are cut and distributed and burned to the last cinder.

Athlone, where farmers normally are self-sustaining, was said by eye witnesses to be in frightful condition, unparalleled within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Here, where the land normally is dry, the continuous rainfall has soaked everything. At that conditions are far better than in Connemara where even at best of seasons the land yields only a bare living.

To make matters worse, the River Shannon, famed in song, has flooded and devastated farms along its banks, carrying away hay mows and forcing many farmers to leave their submerged homes.

USE OF TOBACCO THREATENS RACE SAYS PHYSICIST

SMOKING MORE HARMFUL TO WOMEN THAN TO MEN,

NEXT GENERATION ENDANGER-ED UNLESS MILADY GIVES UP CIGARET

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 30.—The whole race is degenerating by the use of tobacco, according to Dr. Anthony Zeleny, physicist at the University of Minnesota.

Smoking is more harmful to women than men, and unless milady lays down her cigarette, the next generation will be meager, more feeble and less animated than the present generation, in his opinion.

"Experiments show that the use of tobacco injures the reproductive cells," said Dr. Zeleny.

"Vigor is dimmed and life shortened by the use of tobacco in any form. Next to alcohol and overeating, smoking is one of the most insidious forms of poisoning. Each mouthful of smoke contains a considerable amount of nicotine, some of which is absorbed into the system.

"Our medical schools lay great stress on the dangers of other drugs but pay comparatively little attention to nicotine, one of the most deadly of poisons.

"I certainly do not want to absorb what many people use to exterminate insects and vermin. It is a most effective destroyer."

Dr. Arnold Lacand, a great student of the subject at Carlsbad, says tobacco is highly prejudicial to the thyroid gland, an organ upon which the tone of the muscles and tissues of the body is dependent. The thyroid gland is closely related to the reproductive gland.

EX-GOV. SCOFIELD SINKING RAPIDLY

DEATH SOON EXPECTED TO END
SIX MONTHS' SUFFERING

(By United Press)
Oconto, Wis., Jan. 30.—Gradually growing weaker, Edward Scofield, 83, ex-governor of Wisconsin and prominent in the lumber industry of the state, ill at his home here, was reported to be sinking rapidly.

The former governor has been confined to his home for the past six months on account of illness. Last summer during the week he was in Milwaukee attending to business he was taken ill and death was feared, but he regained sufficient strength to return to his home here where he has lived since 1868.

Scofield served as executive of the state from 1896 to 1900.

While he played an important part in politics he was also active in business and helped develop the lumber industry of northern Wisconsin.

He was born in Clayfield, Pa., in 1842. He served in the Civil War, gaining promotion and citations. Shortly after his enlistment he was promoted to lieutenant, later to captain, and then to major.

STATE SENATE SETS RECORD IN ONE DAY'S WORK

FIFTY-FOUR BILLS INTRODUCED

PAY DAY

COMMITTEES OF BOTH HOUSE AND SENATE ARE KEPT BUSY

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 30.—The state senate did its biggest day's work today. Fifty-four bills were introduced—a record number for any one day this session.

Perhaps payday influenced the lawmakers, for each senator received $250—an aggregate of $17,250. The money is due February 1, but courteous guardians of the state finance distributed the checks today.

A joint meeting of the senate and house committees on civil administration is being arranged for consideration of the report of the house committee on reorganization of state government. Some day next week will be selected.

A bill carrying out the recommendations of the committees on reorganization will be introduced soon.

The house committee on highways was today considering a bill which would require every automobile on Minnesota highways to carry a rear view mirror. It will be considered further a week from today.

4 RAILROADS GAIN IN 1924 EARNINGS

TOTAL OF $53,177,808 REPORTED
—N. P. SHOWS THE GREAT-EST INCREASE

St. Paul, Jan. 30.—The 1924 net earnings of four of the principal railroads centering in St. Paul amounted to $53,177,808.

This is an increase of $2,323,943 as compared with the 1923 statement.

These figures were compiled today with the December reports of the railroads to the Interstate Commerce commission containing the net operating income for the 12 months of last year.

N. P. Gains Greatest
The greatest increase was made by the Northern Pacific with a net for the year of $19,961,077, a gain of $2,860,520 as compared with the 1923 returns.

The Great Northern's net amounted to $24,201,287 which represented a loss of only $530,704 despite a decrease of nearly $10,000,000 on gross returns.

The Omaha showed a net return of $3,408,989 for the year, an increase of $380,074.

The Soo line's net income was $5,606,455, a drop of $171,213 compared with 1923.

Gain in December
December's earnings were slightly higher than for 1923. The Northern Pacific showed a net for the month of $2,475,714, a gain of $424,425 over December, 1923.

The Great Northern's net was $1,707,432 compared to $1,661,585 for December, 1923.

The increased net earnings were made possible by a reduction in the cost of operation despite a drop in the gross returns of the railroads, it was pointed out.

MAY WHEAT HITS NEW HIGH MARK

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 30.—May wheat reached $2 a bushel on the Minneapolis market today.

This was the highest price paid for wheat since the war. May opened at $1.97½ and just before the close hit $2. Flax, corn and rye futures were also up.

PRICES SOAR ON CHICAGO PIT

Chicago, Jan. 30.—May wheat soared up to $2.05½ a bushel here today, within ¼¢ of the new peace time high reached Wednesday.

An avalanche of buying orders swept into the Board of Trade, and there were reports of higher prices in European markets and recurrent talk of a world shortage.

Selling orders poured into the Chicago Board of Trade today in such volume that May wheat, which today soared up to $2.05½, fell off to $2.03½ at the close.

MORE SCANDAL IN HIGH LIFE

MORE REVELATIONS LOOKED FOR IN THE SCOTT
TRIAL

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 30.—Renewal of sensational charges of drinking and "wild night parties" in the smart set at Washington and congressional and official gambling in the capital city will be made when the divorce trial of Congressman Frank D. Scott reopens at Alpena, Mich., on March 10, it was indicated today in information given out by Mrs. Scott's attorneys.

The trial was adjourned after a week's hearings on motion of Ward H. Peck, counsel for Mrs. Scott, who desired time to obtain depositions from "seven or eight people" involved in the tangled and twisted testimony of the trial.

Most important among the depositions sought is that of Capt. (Jazzbo) Sumner, hero of the "pink kimono" episode in the Scott apartment and host at a dinner party at Ft. Meyer alleged to have been attended by Mrs. Scott alone.

Much of the depositions will be taken up with information concerning Scott's charges of indiscretions of his wife, although the drinking parties, gambling and revelries disclosed in the early testimony will be substantiated, Peck indicated.

Capt. Sumner—prominent in the testimony at the first trial—has been transferred to Texas, according to reports Peck said were brought to him.

BUCK O'CONNOR IN CONFESSION

GOINGS' MURDER AT WADENA

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 30.—Buck O'Connor, held in jail here for the murder of John Goings, Miami county, Ohio, confessed to another prisoner that he had taken part in the killing of Goings and the hiding of the body in a corn shock at Wadena, Minn., according to police.

Ollie Underwood, fellow-prisoner, told police O'Connor said that a crank and handle of a jack were used to beat Goings to death. They then hid the body in a cornfield, police say.

The body was found late yesterday hidden in a corn shock on a farm near Wadena.

Physicians say that Goings had been dead for about two months. Goings was returning to his home at Covington, O., from Carrington, N. D., in his automobile, by way of Minneapolis.

FATE OF FORBES AND THOMPSON IN JURY'S HANDS

JURY WARNED AGAINST TESTI-MONY OF MORTIMER, STAR
WITNESS

THE INDICTMENT NAMES THREE OTHERS, TWO OF WHOM ARE DEAD

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 30.—Cautioning against the testimony of Elias H. Mortimer, star government witness, because Mortimer is "an admitted crook," Federal Judge Carpenter today placed the fate of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans Bureau, and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, in the hands of the jury.

Judge Carpenter warned the jurors, however, that if they were satisfied that Mortimer was telling the truth that they should accept his testimony.

Judge Carpenter pointed out that the indictment under which Forbes and Thompson were brought to trial names three other men as being involved. These were James W. Black, Thompson's business partner, now dead; Charles Cramer, attorney for the Veterans Bureau, who committed suicide just after the Veterans Bureau investigation was started, and Mortimer, who was not brought to trial because of his valuable testimony against Forbes and Thompson.

ALL EUROPE HIT BY ADVANCE IN WHEAT

BRITISH MILLERS RAISE FLOUR
PRICES—BREAD WILL
COST MORE

London, Jan. 30.—"The Chicago wheat market rules the world and fixes prices for all other wheat," Sir William Nichols, Great Britain's "flour king," told the United Press today.

"Whatever happens, we must follow the United States. We cannot help ourselves."

The wheat boom in the United States had an immediate repercussion in England and throughout Europe and echoes of it were heard in Russia.

Flour Goes Up
The price of flour here promptly advanced one shilling a sack. Bakers have started agitation for a four-pound loaf of bread at 11 pence and it is believed bread soon will cost a shilling a loaf.

Experts have revived discussion of some means to alleviate the present excessive cost of cereal grains and the possibility of returning to some form of mixed cereal bread such as was used in war time.

It is estimated that yesterday's advance in American wheat added a farthing (half a cent) to the cost of the British loaf.

Russia Buying
Russia is buying heavily from the world's wheat supply and this already has caused advances in prices here.

Great Britain's main relief from the present situation lies in the bumper Australian crop which is estimated at 87,000,000 hundred-weight, compared to 67,000,000 last year. There is some apprehension lest labor troubles in Australia hinder loading and also because of heavy Japanese and Chinese demands for Australian wheat.

It is estimated that nearly every continental country save Spain needs wheat, and for this reason British tonnage is carrying ballast to Australia to hasten transportation of the vital cereal.

It's a remarkable commentary on civilization when we point with pride to the fact that "only" 16 persons were lynched in the United States last year.—Boston Transcript.

New York, Jan. 30.—Found guilty of conspiracy to defeat justice, Gaston B. Means, former agent of the Department of Justice, was sentenced today to two years in Atlanta penitentiary and fined $10,000.

Col. Thomas B. Felder, New York lawyer who was found guilty together with Means, was fined $10,000.

Both Means and Felder were visibly affected at the verdict, although after Elmer Jarnecke, former secretary, had turned state's evidence there was little doubt as to what the jury, which retired late yesterday after a charge by Federal Judge Walter Lindley, would decide.

Means at under $25,000 bail pending appeal from another conviction of violation of the Volstead Act and an additional $15,000 bail covering another indictment. His bail of $10,000 in the present case, furnished by Frank A. Vanderlip, was cancelled.

Both defendants claimed to be in poor health. Col. Felder is 70 years old. He was represented in the trial, which ended yesterday, by Frank P. Walsh.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Taking the advice of a famous stock market adage—seldom heeded—"you never go broke taking profits"—Miss Ethel Comstock, who conducts a small letter shop, cleaned up a small fortune in the wheat market.

Miss Comstock refused to divulge the extent of her winnings which are estimated all the way up to $75,000. "I started with $150," she said. "This was raised of course as I got returns from trading."

"You know they say you never go broke taking profits. That's how I feel. I never wait to buy low and sell high. Whenever I feel I've made enough I take my profits."

Miss Comstock conducts her letter shop in the board of trade building, where the talk and mad shouts of the men in the wheat pit enables her to take advantage of the rising and falling of prices.

BLIZZARD LASHES EAST WITH GENEROUS LAYER OF
SNOW

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 30.—Coastwise shipping was imperiled, two schooners with five members of their crews were reported lost, and the United States navy submarine S-48 was in distress off Portsmouth, N. H., today, as a result of a terrific storm that swept the Atlantic seaboard last night.

With a gale that at times reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour, the blizzard lashed the east with another generous layer of snow, and the death toll in the metropolitan area alone during the last 48 hours stood at ten today.

The captain and four members of the crew of the Commack took to the masts when their crippled vessel was pounding to pieces off Sandy Hook, N. J., during the blizzard.

The S. S. Albo crashed into the army dredge Raritan off Staten Island during the blinding snow storm but no one was seriously injured.

The four-masted schooner Herbert L. Rawlings was feared lost at sea. The coast guard cutter Gresham after 24 hours of search reported no trace of the missing vessel.

The Rawlings' last radio message stated she was helpless and leaking badly 16 miles off Winter Quarter.

The shipping board steamer Parai was disabled 50 miles off Cape Henry with water in the vessel's fuel oil, and it had to be towed to Hampton Roads.

Ashore, as at sea, the fierce blizzard resulted in numerous accidents, fires and casualties.

The lives of 4,000 school children were endangered when fire started from an overheated stove and destroyed a big structure adjoining public school 17 in Brooklyn.

HARROWING NIGHT ON HIGH SEAS.

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 30.—After a harrowing night during which their craft was buffeted by icy seas, the crew of 35 of the stranded submarine S-48 was removed safely today.

Coast guardsmen, aided by soldiers from Fort Constitution, took the men off the undersea craft after a night of tremendous struggle during which rescue apparatus and dragged six miles through slushy snow.

Efforts will be made to refloat the S-48 which went aground on Jaffery Point during the snow storm which swept the harbor during the night.

The season's snowfall to January 8 was less than four inches.

The normal low temperature for the winter season is 40 to 50 below and the snowfall 30 to 40 inches.

As a result of the open season mining operations, usually closed up by the snow this time of year, are going on in full force.

Ollie Underwood, fellow-prisoner, told police O'Connor said that a crank and handle of a jack were used to beat Goings to death. They then hid the body in a cornfield, police say.

The body was found late yesterday hidden in a corn shock on a farm near Wadena.

Physicians say that Goings had been dead for about two months.

Goings was returning to his home at Covington, O., from Carrington, N. D., in his automobile, by way of Minneapolis.

FATE OF FORBES AND THOMPSON IN JURY'S HANDS

JURY WARNED AGAINST TESTI-MONY OF MORTIMER, STAR
WITNESS

THE INDICTMENT NAMES THREE OTHERS, TWO OF WHOM
ARE DEAD

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 30.—Cautioning against the testimony of Elias H. Mortimer, star government witness, because Mortimer is "an admitted crook," Federal Judge Carpenter today placed the fate of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans Bureau, and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, in the hands of the jury.

Judge Carpenter warned the jurors, however, that if they were satisfied that Mortimer was telling the truth that they should accept his testimony.

Judge Carpenter pointed out that the indictment under which Forbes and Thompson were brought to trial names three other men as being involved. These were James W. Black, Thompson's business partner, now dead; Charles Cramer, attorney for the Veterans Bureau, who committed suicide just after the Veterans Bureau investigation was started, and Mortimer, who was not brought to trial because of his valuable testimony against Forbes and Thompson.

ALL EUROPE HIT BY ADVANCE IN WHEAT

BRITISH MILLERS RAISE FLOUR
PRICES—BREAD WILL
COST MORE

London, Jan. 30.—"The Chicago wheat market rules the world and fixes prices for all other wheat," Sir William Nichols, Great Britain's "flour king," told the United Press today.

"Whatever happens, we must follow the United States. We cannot help ourselves."

The wheat boom in the United States had an immediate repercussion in England and throughout Europe and echoes of it were heard in Russia.

Flour Goes Up
The price of flour here promptly advanced one shilling a sack. Bakers have started agitation for a four-pound loaf of bread at 11 pence and it is believed bread soon will cost a shilling a loaf.

Experts have revived discussion of some means to alleviate the present excessive cost of cereal grains and the possibility of returning to some form of mixed cereal bread such as was used in war time.

It is estimated that yesterday's advance in American wheat added a farthing (half a cent) to the cost of the British loaf.

Russia Buying
Russia is buying heavily from the world's wheat supply and this already has caused advances in prices here.

Great Britain's main relief from the present situation lies in the bumper Australian crop which is estimated at 87,000,000 hundred-weight, compared to 67,000,000 last year. There is some apprehension lest labor troubles in Australia hinder loading and also because of heavy Japanese and Chinese demands for Australian wheat.

It is estimated that nearly every continental country save Spain needs wheat, and for this reason British tonnage is carrying ballast to Australia to hasten transportation of the vital cereal.

It's a remarkable commentary on civilization when we point with pride to the fact that "only" 16 persons were lynched in the United States last year.—Boston Transcript.

POSTAL SALARY BILL TO SENATE TODAY IS BELIEF

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 30.—Barring some last minute uprising against it, the $68,000,000 postal salaries and rate increase bill will be put to a vote in the Senate today with prospects of passage. It will then go to the House.

PRISON TERM AND HEAVY FINES FOR MEANS & FELDER

EACH RECEIVED SENTENCE OF
TWO YEARS AND FINED
$10,000

MEANS ALSO AWAITING TRIAL
UNDER SECOND INDICT-MENT

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 30.—Found guilty of conspiracy to defeat justice, Gaston B. Means, former agent of the Department of Justice, was sentenced today to two years in Atlanta penitentiary and fined $10,000.

Col. Thomas B. Felder, New York lawyer who was found guilty together with Means, was fined $10,000.

Both Means and Felder were visibly affected at the verdict, although after Elmer Jarnecke, former secretary, had turned state's evidence there was little doubt as to what the jury, which retired late yesterday after a charge by Federal Judge Walter Lindley, would decide.

Means is under $25,000 bail pending appeal from another conviction of violation of the Volstead Act and an additional $15,000 bail covering another indictment. His bail of $10,000 in the present case, furnished by Frank A. Venderlip, was cancelled.

Both defendants claimed to be in poor health. Col. Felder is 70 years old. He was represented in the trial, which ended yesterday, by Frank P. Walsh.

WOMAN CLEANS UP FORTUNE IN WHEAT

TAKES ADVANTAGE OF OLD AD-AGE IN BOARD OF TRADE

(By United Press)
Chicago, Jan. 30.—Taking the advice of a famous stock market adage—"seldom heeded"—"you never go broke taking profits"—Miss Ethel Comstock, who conducts a small letter shop, cleaned up a small fortune in the wheat market.

Miss Comstock refused to divulge the extent of her winnings which are estimated all the way up to $75,000. "I started with $150," she said. "This was raised of course as I got returns from trading."

"You know they say you never go broke taking profits. That's how I feel. I never wait to buy low and sell high. Whenever I feel I've made enough I take my profits."

Miss Comstock conducts her letter shop in the board of trade building, where the talk and mad shouts of the men in the wheat pit enable her to take advantage of the rising and falling of prices.

MILD IN ALASKA THIS WINTER

(By United Press)
Nome, Alaska, Jan. 30.—The mildest winter in years is being enjoyed in Nome this year.

Unless the weather gets busy and does its stuff soon, it will go down as the mildest in history.

TWO SCHOONERS AND SAILORS REPORTED LOST

GALE AT TIMES REACHES A VE-LOCITY OF 60 MILES
AN HOUR

BLIZZARD LASHES EAST WITH GENEROUS LAYER OF
SNOW

(By United Press)
New York, Jan. 30.—Coastwise shipping was imperiled, two schooners with five members of their crews were reported lost, and the United States navy submarine S-48 was in distress off Portsmouth, N. H., today, as a result of a terrific storm that swept the Atlantic seaboard last night.

With a gale that at times reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour, the blizzard lashed the east with another generous layer of snow, and the death toll in the metropolitan area alone during the last 48 hours stood at ten today.

The captain and four members of the crew of the Comstock took to the masts when their crippled vessel was pounding to pieces off Sandy Hook, N. J., during the blizzard.

The S. S. Albo crashed into the army dredge Raritan off Staten Island during the blinding snow storm but no one was seriously injured.

The four-masted schooner Herbert L. Rawlings was feared lost at sea. The coast guard cutter Gresham after 24 hours of search reported no trace of the missing vessel.

The Rawlings' last radio message stated she was helpless and leaking badly 16 miles off Winter Quarter.

The shipping board steamer Parai was disabled 50 miles off Cape Henry with water in the vessel's fuel oil, and it had to be towed to Hampton Roads.

Ashore, as at sea, the fierce blizzard resulted in numerous accidents, fires and casualties.

The lives of 4,000 school children were endangered when fire started from an overheated stove and destroyed a big structure adjoining public school 17 in Brooklyn.

HARROWING NIGHT
ON HIGH SEAS.

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 30.—After a harrowing night during which their craft was buffeted by icy seas, the crew of 35 of the stranded submarine S-48 was removed safely today.

Coast guardsmen, aided by soldiers from Fort Constitution, took the men off the undersea craft after a night of tremendous struggle during which rescue apparatus and dragged six miles through slushy snow.

Efforts will be made to refloat the S-48 which went aground on Jaffery Point during the snow storm which swept the harbor during the night.

The Paris probate court has decided that it is not a proof of madness to leave one's money to the state. In England it is a sign of remarkable ability in preventing the state from getting it before.—Punch.

posedly "temperate" zone in which the United States is located.

The season's snowfall to January 8 was less than four inches.

The normal low temperature for the winter season is 40 to 50 below and the snowfall 30 to 40 inches.

As a result of the open season mining operations, usually closed up by the snow this time of year, are going on in full force.

Automobiles, which usually go into storage in December and give place to dog teams, are still in operation with every indication that they will be driven all winter and that the dogs will get a year off.

On many of the trails leading out of Nome, light, popular make automobiles are replacing the historic dog teams as a means of winter travel.

Chas. Kinkele departed Monday morning to spend the remainder of the winter at Mineral Wells, Texas. Mr. Kinkele's health is not the best and he has hopes that the change of climate will improve his health. All wish him a happy time in the south-land and hope that he will blow into town in the spring spry as a cricket. Up to this writing none of his personal property has come back so it is thought all is going well. Several years ago Mr. Kinkele made the same trip. A few days after his departure the trainmen delivered his derby which had been lost on the train but as his name was in the band it was returned as Mr. Kinkele is known personally to every trainman on the M. & I.—Walker Pilot.

"BRAINERD NIGHT" A POPULAR PROGRAM

"BRAINERD NIGHT" radio program, presented by Brainerd talent this evening and broadcast by Gold Medal WCCO Station, St. Paul-Minneapolis, is essentially a popular program because of the date assigned it by WCCO.

The full evening program runs as follows:

6:00 P. M.—Sport Talk
6:30 P. M.—Dinner concert, Dick Long's Nankin Cafe orchestra.

7:30 P. M.—"Brainerd Night."

9:00 P. M.—"The F & R Family."

The "F & R Family" is a new Friday feature presenting the best offerings of the theatre chain of Finkelstein & Ruben.

This whole evening has a popular note. Church services or church programs are broadcast Sundays. A short midweek church service is put on Wednesday nights at 7 o'clock. The music of a Sunday is purely church service or of classical nature.

What is the central feature of a church program? It requires a church with its pipe organ and facilities for chorus work. The WCCO studio has no pipe organ. The present studio has been outgrown and men are working day and night building the new studios on top of the New Nicollet hotel which will be used respectively for individuals and for orchestras, choruses, choirs, etc.

The Brainerd Musical club wished to present its pipe organ and piano duet by Mrs. Louis Knudsen and Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone respectively on Brainerd Night. The cost of such presentation was beyond the club's resources. Permission had been secured from the First Baptist church of Minneapolis to play such a duet in the church between the hours of 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

Then the proposed expenses began to pile up. To connect or "hook up" the Baptist church at Harmon Place with WCCO would cost approximately $40, for electricians and linemen must be paid. With it would follow piano rental, piano drayage and piano tuning so that piano and pipe organ would conform. By the time the church was set for the ten minute duet, quite an expense bill would have been incurred.

Dates for participation in radio programs are assigned months ahead. The Station passes on the program material, the selections played, the talks that are given. Twenty days before presentation, the program outline must be in the Station's hands.

The Brainerd Musical club is anxious to present a program of its own. Many ministers of the city have expressed a desire for a purely church program. A reference to this will be made in one of the talks tonight. It may be possible that such separate dates can be secured. It may be possible, also, to arrange a combined Musical club classical program with a church program, providing the expenses incurred in connecting church with Station are paid by the participants.

To one not acquainted with broadcasting there are countless problems and questions arising. The amount of correspondence, telephoning and telegraphing carried on for "Brainerd Night" has been a tremendous affair, and it will be realized by other people when they present a program.

MINNESOTA YEARS BEHIND THE TIMES

WHEN Old Dobbin had to be hitched to the buckboard after the cows were milked at night, to take Farmer John and his hired man to vote, the closing of Minnesota polls at nine o'clock was not unreasonable.

But today, with an automobile for every five persons in Minnesota, and good roads leading across nearly every township, nine o'clock closing of the polls put Minnesota just as much out of date as old Dobbin and the buckboard.

The Republican-Herald of Winona has poined the Brainerd Dispatch in the demand for earlier closing of the polls in Minnesota. At the last November election, continues the Winona paper, in any township of the state, voters could have gathered, as many did, about a radio receiving set and learned, long before nine o'clock at night, that the Republicans had carried the country by an overwhelming landslide.

Senator James A. Carley of Wabasha county recently stated in a letter to the Republican-Herald that on election night he sat in his home at Plainview in the early evening and heard over the radio that the Democrats had been defeated, long before the good Democrats of his home town had ceased voting for Davis. Flashes from New York over the wire announced that Coolidge had been elected, while Winona polls were still open and Winonans still voting.

In Illinois the polls close at four in the afternoon and their government still goes on. Minnesota is the only state in the union which closes its polls as late as nine o'clock. Is this the only state where the farmer can't vote before the evening chores are done or the city man can't vote until he has eaten his evening meal?

Or is Minnesota the only state with a legislature so lacking in regard to the health and comfort of nearly 20,000 election officials that it is willing they shall work to the point of utter exhaustion in order that no voter may be hurried in getting to the polls?

Wake up, Minnesota legislators opposed to earlier closing of the polls! You are living in the twentieth century. Times and conditions have changed. And although this is not half so important as the saving of human energy for a better cause, there will be a substantial saving of election expenses if the polls are closed two or three hours earlier. That perhaps might make a hit with the tightwad legislator.

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

NEWS reports state that the fight for a child labor amendment to the constitution will be continued by the national child labor committee, even if ratification fails, as has been forecast by returns on the voting. The committee claims six of the states voting unfavorably, may reverse themselves.

The committee claims the reason the amendment is being rejected is because of a foolish fear that all labor will be prohibited and all chores forbidden. It may take two years, however, instead of six months to achieve success with the amendment, is the statement of the committee.

Defends Amateur Transmitting

Brainerd, Minn.
Jan. 28, 1925.

Editor Brainerd Dispatch:

In your editorial on the Brainerd program from WCCO you state that, "It is hoped that every precaution will be taken to avoid disturbing the program," from there you immediately launch a walloping at amateur transmitting stations in the city.

I wish to say that there is only one Government licensed amateur transmitter in Brainerd and that is the station of the writer—9BAV—this station has been operating on a wave length of 81 meters all winter with the exception of one or two nights when 184 meters was used. Broadcast stations operate in the band of 222 to 550 meters leaving a difference of 336 meters between my wave and that of WCCO, any decent receiver should be that selective that it would separate the two with ease. As an example last winter, station 9BAV on 184 meters, three blocks from 9BAV working on 182 meters; neither interfered with the other at a difference of five meters either side, this was with an ordinary two tube regenerative receiver at each station.

The interference which we will have on Friday evening will not come from amateur transmitting, but will come from the one and two tube single circuit receivers which are in themselves a transmitter, causing squeals, fuzzy music and speech from any station they happen to be listening to, unless handled below the oscillating point. This one thing has caused more dissatisfaction with radio broadcasting than all the amateur transmitters in the country. An oscillating receiver in Cuba has been heard in Ohio, superheterodynes and the neutrodyne are capable of causing re-radiation interference.

In a Bureau of Standards test, amateur transmitters caused 5.8 per cent of the interference to broadcast reception.

As a suggestion to the broadcast listeners of Brainerd for Friday night—find WCCO without their carrier wave or whistle; if necessary, find their carrier wave, then station, and immediately turn down detector tube filament or turn tickled coil so that the receiver cannot oscillate or whistle. In this way every radio listener in Brainerd will be able to hear WCCO. If one receiver is left oscillating on WCCO's wave it will spoil reception for blocks around. Let's get WCCO as clear as possible and not as loud as possible.

The writer tried to get the Editor of this paper to reprint an article from Radio Digest on the interference caused by receivers which would have helped a great deal on Friday's program, but the Editor would not see the point.

The disturbance Friday night will not come from rebounding dots and dashes of some amateur station but will come from oscillating single circuit receivers in the hands of those who don't care.

Due to my receiver not being able to receive amateur code and WCCO at the same time, station 9BAV will not operate, and not because the Editor choose to pass a new quiet period over the heads of the Department of Commerce.

4 Big Vaudeville Acts at New Park Saturday

The New Park will present four big vaudeville acts and the feature picture, "Marriage Morals," with Tom Moore, on Saturday, matinee and night, at popular prices.

Big Scenes Galore in "North of 36" Production

Comparable only, it is said, to the famous journey of the pioneers in James Cruze's "Covered Wagon," is the huge drive of four thousand cattle in "North of 36," which Irvin Willat produced for Paramount.

In the story, which was written by Emerson Hough, who also wrote "The Covered Wagon," a herd of four thousand long-horn cattle start from the Del Sol ranch in southeastern Texas and, with the north-star as their only guide, set out for the railroad at Abilene, Kansas.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

firm believer in realism. As a result the newspaper sequence of "A Man Must Live" is the real thing. Before a scene was shot Sloane made a personal visit to the offices of three of New York's foremost newspapers—the Sun, Telegraph and American.

It isn't mere atmosphere that the director has put into the picture. He makes you feel that Dix is not merely playing the role of a reporter, but really is a reporter.

"A Man Must Live" will be seen the last time tonight at the New Park Theatre.

Peggy O'Day takes the leading part and, incidentally, plays a dual role. She is first seen as the poor girl in the country; later she essays the role of Colonel Blake's wife and in both parts she acquits herself admirably.

At the last November election, continues the Winona paper, in any township of the state, voters could have gathered, as many did, about a radio receiving set and learned, long before nine o'clock at night, that the Republicans had carried the country by an overwhelming landslide.

Senator James A. Carley of Wabasha county recently stated in a letter to the Republican-Herald that on election night he sat in his home at Plainview in the early evening and heard over the radio that the Democrats had been defeated, long before the good Democrats of his home town had ceased voting for Davis. Flashes from New York over the wire announced that Coolidge had been elected, while Winona polls were still open and Winonans still voting.

In Illinois the polls close at four in the afternoon and their government still goes on. Minnesota is the only state in the union which closes its polls as late as nine o'clock. Is this the only state where the farmer can't vote before the evening chores are done or the city man can't vote until he has eaten his evening meal?

Or is Minnesota the only state with a legislature so lacking in regard to the health and comfort of nearly 20,000 election officials that it is willing they shall work to the point of utter exhaustion in order that no voter may be hurried in getting to the polls?

Wake up, Minnesota legislators opposed to earlier closing of the polls! You are living in the twentieth century. Times and conditions have changed. And although this is not half so important as the saving of human energy for a better cause, there will be a substantial saving of election expenses if the polls are closed two or three hours earlier. That perhaps might make a hit with the tightwad legislator.

News reports state that the fight for a child labor amendment to the constitution will be continued by the national child labor committee, even if ratification fails, as has been forecast by returns on the voting. The committee claims six of the states voting unfavorably, may reverse themselves.

The committee claims the reason the amendment is being rejected is because of a foolish fear that all labor will be prohibited and all chores forbidden. It may take two years, however, instead of six months to achieve success with the amendment, is the statement of the committee.

Defends Amateur Transmitting

Brainerd, Minn.
Jan. 28, 1925.

Editor Brainerd Dispatch:

In your editorial on the Brainerd program from WCCO you state that, "It is hoped that every precaution will be taken to avoid disturbing the program," from there you immediately launch a wallop at amateur transmitting stations in the city.

I wish to say that there is only one Government licensed amateur transmitter in Brainerd and that is the station of the writer—9BAV—this station has been operating on a wave length of 81 meters all winter with the exception of one or two nights when 184 meters was used. Broadcast stations operate in the band of 222 to 550 meters leaving a difference of 336 meters between my wave and that of WCCO, any decent receiver should be that selective that it would separate the two with ease. As an example last winter, station 9BAV on 194 meters three blocks from 9BAV working on 182 meters; neither interfered with the other at a difference of five meters either side, this was with an ordinary two tube regenerative receiver at each station.

The interference which we will have on Friday evening will not come from amateur transmitting, but will come from the one and two tube single circuit receivers which are in themselves a transmitter, causing squeals, fuzzy music and speech from any station they happen to be listening to, unless handled below the oscillating point. This one thing has caused more dissatisfaction with radio broadcasting than all the amateur transmitters in the country. An oscillating receiver in Cuba has been heard in Ohio, superheterodynes and the neutrodyne are capable of causing re-radiation interference.

In a Bureau of Standards test, amateur transmitters caused 5.8 per cent of the interference to broadcast reception.

As a suggestion to the broadcast listeners of Brainerd for Friday night—find WCCO without their carrier wave or whistle; if necessary, find their carrier wave, then station, and immediately turn down detector tube filament or turn tickled coil so that the receiver cannot oscillate or whistle. In this way every radio listener in Brainerd will be able to hear WCCO. If one receiver is left oscillating on WCCO's wave it will spoil reception for blocks around. Let's get WCCO as clear as possible and not as loud as possible.

The writer tried to get the Editor of this paper to reprint an article from Radio Digest on the interference caused by receivers which would have helped a great deal on Friday's program, but the Editor would not see the point.

The disturbance Friday night will not come from rebounding dots and dashes of some amateur station but will come from oscillating single circuit receivers in the hands of those who don't care.

Due to my receiver not being able to receive amateur code and WCCO at the same time, station 9BAV will not operate, and not because the Editor chooses to pass a new quiet period over the heads of the Department of Commerce.

4 Big Vaudeville Acts at New Park Saturday

The New Park will present four big vaudeville acts and the feature picture, "Marriage Morals," with Tom Moore, on Saturday, matinee and night, at popular prices.

Big Scenes Galore in "North of 36" Production

Comparable only, it is said, to the famous journey of the pioneers in James Cruze's "Covered Wagon," is the huge drive of four thousand cattle in "North of 36," which Irvin Willat produced for Paramount.

In the story, which was written by Emerson Hough, who also wrote "The Covered Wagon," a herd of four thousand long-horn cattle start from the Del Sol ranch in southeastern Texas and, with the north-star as their only guide, set out for the railroad at Abilene, Kansas.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

firm believer in realism. As a result the newspaper sequence of "A Man Must Live" is the real thing. Before a scene was shot Sloane made a personal visit to the offices of three of New York's foremost newspapers—the Sun, Telegraph and American.

It isn't mere atmosphere that the director has put into the picture. He makes you feel that Dix is not merely playing the role of a reporter, but really is a reporter.

"A Man Must Live" will be seen the last time tonight at the New Park Theatre.

CHAMBER BY-LAWS
IN A REVISION

Annual Dues May be Placed on a Multiple Plan
STANDING COMMITTEES
Present By-Laws Provide for Many—May be Cut Down to Five

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held on Wednesday evening, but because of the fact that the Study Club had provided an interesting address in the parlors of the Chamber beginning at 8:15 o'clock, the association's session was very short.

Plans were discussed for revising the present by-laws, but because the constitution provides that this change cannot be made until the meeting following that at which the discussion was held, no definite action was taken.

One change in the by-laws that is planned is that of placing the annual dues on a multiple plan. At present the dues are $10 per year. It is hoped to change the by-laws so that they will read: "The annual dues of the Chamber will not be less than $10."

Plans were also discussed for changing the number of standing committees. The by-laws now provide for a large number of such committees, and if amended cut this number down to only five, being the finance, membership, house and entertainment, publicity and convention, and traffic committees. If this amendment is followed out, the work of the standing committees, which will be discontinued, will be done by special committees in the future.

Only two committee chairmen had completed the personnel of their committees, being the finance and the house and entertainment committees. Those appointed on the finance committee are A. L. Hoffman, chairman, B. L. Lagerquist, F. E. Stout, R. R. Gould, C. W. Hoffman and Ernest Butler.

The house and entertainment committee is composed of E. J. Quinn, chairman, J. F. Cibazar, Frank Hall, Dr. George Ribbel, George Lowe, F. E. Stout, James Alderman, Bert Orne and Robert Duerr.

The special committee, appointed to look into the advisability of bringing a harvester manufacturing plant from Little Falls to Brainerd, submitted a written report on its work. W. H. Cleary was chairman of this committee, but because of his absence, the secretary of the committee, A. L. Hoffman, made the report. The report disclosed the fact that the committee had visited Little Falls and had carefully gone into the proposition there, and as far as it could learn, the harvester and threshing machine which it is proposed to manufacture, promises excellent results. It is believed that it will eventually be a great success and mean much to the community that it selects for its manufacturing plant.

But as to locating the plant in Brainerd at this time, and financing it, in the committee's opinion, it is too large an undertaking for this community to handle on the information that at present is available.

However, if it can be proven to the committee that there is any way to finance this manufacturing plant, the Chamber will gladly recommend that it be brought to this city and will assist in every way possible toward that end.

SOIL FERTILITY
AIDS COUNTY

Crow Wing county is richer yearly by $160,000, because of the soil fertility produced as a by-product of dairying, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The figure is based on data resulting from many carefully kept records on a considerable number of farms.

The average quantity of manure recovered for use on crop lands in the area studied was 7.4 tons per cow, and since the fertilizing value of a ton of manure is $2.60, the by-product value of each cow is approximately twenty dollars. The application of this figure to the 8,000 dairy cattle in this county brings the total added value to the soil fertility here to the almost unbelievable figure given above.

In keeping with its better feeding program the Institute estimates that from 25 per cent to 50 per cent greater profit from each ton of feed can be made by local farmers who milk cows through improved feeding methods, alone. This was demonstrated, it states, by the experiment recently concluded by the University of Minnesota. Four average farm dairy cows were purchased. They had been well cared for but had not been fed an efficient mixture of grains or roughage. Their new owners fed them alfalfa, corn silage, oats, corn and barley, all home-grown feeds, instead of timothy, bran, middlings, and oilmeal and, as a result, each cow averaged to produce 796 quarts more milk per year. Each cow almost doubled the profit over feed cost of the previous year.

Equally as good results can be obtained in this county through better feeding methods, the Creamery Institute believes.

Banking for the People

COPYRIGHT 1924 HARVEY BLODGETT

Who Are the "Interests" Behind Banks?

THE "interests" which dominate your bank are the best interests of all the people in the community.

The depositors are the community—the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, the professional man, the humble worker.

They are the first considered in formulating the bank's policies. Some may tell you "big business" controls banks; others may say "the money barons"—mystical persons whom it is doubtful if anyone in the community ever saw.

Other misinformed persons will intimate broadly that "Wall Street" reaches its tentacles into every bank in the nation; that it controls community banks and draws the wealth of the nation from them.

You may even hear, occasionally, that "they say" the wealthy people of your community dominate the local banks with an eye single to their own profits.

They are all wrong. No bank could endure if it were operated for special interests while receiving its support from the community at large.

In such a case the community would not support it.

If Wall Street owns stock in a few of the nation's banks, the number is comparatively small; and the amount of stock held is so negligible that the situation need not be seriously considered.

Bank stock is, for the greater part, owned locally.

Its owners have the same freedom in its purchase or sale as they do in the stock of other corporations.

Directors who control the bank's destinies and shape its policies are chosen by vote of stockholders.

Bank management in all its actions considers first the well-being and the safety of depositors.

As a depositor's efforts are crowned with success, his deposits are larger, his borrowing power improved; he makes an ideal customer for his bank.

Multiply the average depositor by the whole number. Then, for good measure, add the whole community. There you have the "interests" behind your bank.

Gave Napoleon
Fighting Force

ACCORDING to Berman, a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen, for men and women is obtainable at Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Co.

Banking for the People

COPYRIGHT 1924 HARVEY BLODGETT

Who Are the "Interests" Behind Banks?

THE "interests" which dominate your bank are the best interests of all the people in the community.

The depositors are the community—the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer, the professional man, the humble worker.

They are the first considered in formulating the bank's policies.

Some may tell you "big business" controls banks; others may say "the money barons"—mystical persons whom it is doubtful if anyone in the community ever saw.

Other misinformed persons will intimate broadly that "Wall Street" reaches its tentacles into every bank in the nation; that it controls community banks and draws the wealth of the nation from them.

You may even hear, occasionally, that "they say" the wealthy people of your community dominate the local banks with an eye single to their own profits.

They are all wrong. No bank could endure if it were operated for special interests while receiving its support from the community at large.

In such a case the community would not support it.

If Wall Street owns stock in a few of the nation's banks, the number is comparatively small; and the amount of stock held is so negligible that the situation need not be seriously considered.

Bank stock is, for the greater part, owned locally.

Its owners have the same freedom in its purchase or sale as they do in the stock of other corporations.

Directors who control the bank's destinies and shape its policies are chosen by vote of stockholders.

Bank management in all its actions considers first the well-being and the safety of depositors.

As a depositor's efforts are crowned with success, his deposits are larger, his borrowing power improved; he makes an ideal customer for his bank.

Multiply the average depositor by the whole number. Then, for good measure, add the whole community. There you have the "interests" behind your bank.

WOMEN OF 1925 BEST DRESSED OF ALL HISTORY

FABRICS HAVE NEVER BEEN SO
BEAUTIFUL AS THEY ARE
THIS SEASON

CLOTHES HAVE ACTUALLY BE-COME OBJECTS OF
ART

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)
New York, N. Y., Jan. 30.—

"Whom do women dress for?"
Here is a question that has never been solved and perhaps never will
be—the reason being that women
can never be taken generally. Some women dress to please their husbands; some dress to please other women's husbands; some dress to spite other women and some dress to satisfy their own sweet selves.

Why does a peacock preen his tailfeathers? That's the answer.

We are not interested in "why women dress" but in the fact that they do dress better today than ever before in the history of the world.
Fabrics have never been so beautiful
and the intricacies of gownmaking
have been developed until clothes
have ceased to be mere garments of utility, but have become objects of
art.

The best dressed women today are not the light-headed heartbreakers of motion picture vamp style. Ah no!
The best dressed women are those whose husbands have nice fat pocket-books and equally well dressed are
the moneyed sisters.

The vamp is seldom dressed in good taste. Not so long ago every small town had a few females who out-dressed the other women of the town and startled them with their eccentric hats and frocks, their white fox furs and silken hose. Women on upper Main Street gossiped about them but never spoke to them.

It was not always that their morals were at fault, but nice women didn't approve of their stylish clothes.

Where are these small town vamps
today? It's the self-same nice women who have laid them on the shelf.
The banker's wife, the butcher's wife
and the baker's wife have grown to be the style leaders of the town.
Women who seemed middle aged ten
years ago have blossomed out into fascinating thirty-five-year-olds. And it's modern dressing and cosmetics
that have made this possible.

No! We are not interested in "why women dress" but we certainly get a kick out of the fact that they DO
DRESS, and preen and furnish our streets with silken ankles, rouged
lips and beauty!

Married women are seldom jealous
of the clothes of other married women. It's the single girls whose slenderness and modish clothes make them wish they didn't have to divide
their spending money between the household needs and their own desires. Whether to buy new curtains
for the house or some new feminine furbelow is a constant bugbear to the married woman of limited allowance. One hesitates to suggest that curtains should take second place, since most men adore pretty homes, but a pretty home with a poorly dressed mistress isn't always a success, whereas a well-dressed wife can cover a multitude of household sins by appearing lovely in the eyes of her husband. Somehow the average woman of today manages to keep the homefires burning well enough and to keep beautiful at the same time.

We speak of married women and
of girls when we speak of fashions.
There seems to be none of the women left who were formerly termed
"old maids." And the reason we have so few unmarried women of middle age is clothes, bobbed hair

and cosmetics! Added to this is the fact that women no longer deem it proper to sit at home and knit chair-backs. The modern girl gets out into the world, becomes a part of it
and of its fashions and makes herself interesting in mind and in dress to all mankind. Coy and corseted ladies are no more and the modern female is indeed "more deadly than the male" when it comes to plumage!

Paul Poiret advances the theory
that women will eventually wear
trousers. He claims that the simplification of female costume is leading to the wearing of trousers. The masculine trend in bobbed hair cuts,
pajamas, knickers, etc., might point
that way, but if trousers become a feminine style, it's a cinch they'll be short ones, as women will never accept a style which does away with
the showing of their silken ankles.
Trousers are a bit too modest for
the Caucasian races. It was the Chinese and Oriental races who conceived the idea of putting their womenfolk in trousers and they did so because they knew trousers were less enticing than skirts.

and Mrs. Hazel Cowan.

Baritone solo by A. C. Mraz.
Closing announcements.

The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce readily accepted the chance offered by the Minneapolis radio station to broadcast a program of Brainerd talent and the city will get much feasible publicity therefrom.

Munn and Lewis on Same Wrestling Card

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Wayne Munn, new heavyweight mat champion, will appear here next Tuesday in an exhibition bout—his debut as a title-holder. Munn's feature bout comes as an added attraction to the main schedule in which Strangler Lewis and Joe Mondt meet. It will be Lewis' first appearance since he lost to Munn.

Constipation makes pimply skins—get permanent relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Do not allow this frightful disease to linger in your system.

Rid yourself of constipation at once! The longer it lingers, the greater the poisons it sends through your body—poisons which can wreck your health and lead to over forty serious diseases.

The destructive work of constipation shows in the face—pimples, hollow cheeks, circles under eyes.
It brings gray hair. Causes spots before the eyes—and unpleasant breath. Get permanent relief. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN!

After all else has failed, thousands have regained their health with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Because it is ALL-BRAN, it is 100 per cent effective. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieves the most chronic cases, if eaten regularly. It is guaranteed to do so or your grocer returns the purchase price. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready-to-eat with milk or cream. You will like its nut-like flavor. Kellogg's

WOMEN OF 1925 BEST DRESSED OF ALL HISTORY

FABRICS HAVE NEVER BEEN SO
BEAUTIFUL AS THEY ARE
THIS SEASON

CLOTHES HAVE ACTUALLY BE-COME OBJECTS OF
ART

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)
New York, N. Y., Jan. 30.—
"Whom do women dress for?"

Here is a question that has never been solved and perhaps never will
be—the reason being that women
can never be taken generally. Some women dress to please their husbands; some dress to please other
women's husbands; some dress to
spite other women and some dress to satisfy their own sweet selves.

Why does a peacock preen his tail-
feathers? That's the answer.

We are not interested in "why women dress" but in the fact that they
do dress better today than ever before in the history of the world.
Fabrics have never been so beautiful
and the intricacies of gownmaking
have been developed until clothes
have ceased to be mere garments of utility, but have become objects of
art.

The best dressed women today are
not the light-headed heartbreakers of
motion picture vamp style. Ah no!
The best dressed women are those
whose husbands have nice fat pocket-books and equally well dressed are
the moneyed sisters.

The vamp is seldom dressed in good taste. Not so long ago every small town had a few females who
out-dressed the other women of the
town and startled them with their
eccentric hats and frocks, their white
fox furs and silken hose. Women on upper Main Street gossiped about
them but never spoke to them.

It was not always that their
morals were at fault, but nice women didn't approve of their stylish
clothes.

Where are these small town vamps
today? It's the self-same nice women who have laid them on the shelf.
The banker's wife, the butcher's wife
and the baker's wife have grown to be the style leaders of the towns.
Women who seemed middle aged ten
years ago have blossomed out into fascinating thirty-five-year-olds. And it's modern dressing and cosmetics
that have made this possible.

No! We are not interested in "why
women dress" but we certainly get a kick out of the fact that they DO
DRESS, and preen and furnish our
streets with silken ankles, rouged
lips and beauty!

Married women are seldom jealous
of the clothes of other married women. It's the single girls whose slenderness and modish clothes make
them wish they didn't have to divide
their spending money between the
household needs and their own desires. Whether to buy new curtains
for the house or some new feminine furbelow is a constant bugbear to the married woman of limited allowance. One hesitates to suggest that curtains should take second
place, since most men adore pretty
homes, but a pretty home with a poorly dressed mistress isn't always
a success, whereas a well-dressed
wife can cover a multitude of household sins by appearing lovely in the eyes of her husband. Somehow the average woman of today manages to
keep the homefires burning well
enough and to keep beautiful at the
same time.

We speak of married women and
of girls when we speak of fashions.
There seems to be none of the women left who were formerly termed
"old maids." And the reason we have so few unmarried women of

middle age is clothes, bobbed hair
and cosmetics! Added to this is the fact that women no longer deem it proper to sit at home and knit chair-
backs. The modern girl gets out in-
to the world, becomes a part of it
and of its fashions and makes herself
interesting in mind and in dress to
all mankind. Coy and corseted ladies
are no more and the modern female is indeed "more deadly than the male"
when it comes to plumage!

Paul Poiret advances the theory
that women will eventually wear
trousers. He claims that the simplification of female costume is leading
to the wearing of trousers. The masculine trend in bobbed hair cuts,
pajamas, knickers, etc., might point
that way, but if trousers become a feminine style, it's a cinch they'll be
short ones, as women will never accept a style which does away with
the showing of their silken ankles.
Trousers are a bit too modest for
the Caucasian races. It was the Chinese and Oriental races who conceived the idea of putting their womenfolk in trousers and they did so because they knew trousers were less enticing than skirts.

MRS. F. W. FULLER PASSED AWAY

Death Occurred at Five O'clock on Thursday Morning Following Stroke of Paralysis

HUSBAND AND SON SURVIVE

Was a Member of the Episcopal Church and Was Active in the Local Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Frank W. Fuller passed away on Friday morning at five o'clock, following an illness caused by a stroke of paralysis, which occurred on January 15th.

Cora E. Hull was born in Wisconsin on April 14th, 1881. She was married to Mr. Fuller in Helene, Mont., on June 11th, 1907. Since that time the family has lived in Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota.

One child was born to this union, a son, Earl, aged 14 years, who with her husband are the only surviving relatives. A sister passed away about five years ago in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Fuller was a member of the Episcopal faith. Her only fraternal associations were centered in the Rebekah lodge. She was a devoted and loving wife and mother, and a true friend. She will be sorely missed in her home and by a large circle of friends.

The funeral will be held from the Odd Fellow hall on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

The body will be taken to the hall at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and will lie in state there until the hour of the funeral.

Corrects Data

An error in copy of the county nurse's report furnished the Dispatch was made in two items. The number of visits of instruction made was 133 instead of 1313. Also, there were 1314 vaccinations instead of 1014.

HOOVER URGES THE ELIMINATION OF INDUSTRIAL WASTE

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 30—"While we currently assume that great advancements in living standards are brought about by new and basic inventions, an even larger field for advancement of those standards is found in the steady elimination of our economic wastes," Secretary of Commerce Hoover says in the foreword of a booklet entitled "Simplified Practice—What is and What it Offers," issued by the Division of Simplified Practice of the Department of Commerce.

"The necessity of maintaining a high-wage level requires that all processes of manufacture and distribution be reduced to the lowest possible cost," Hoover wrote. "This can be done through the elimination of those wastes arising out of too high a degree of diversification in certain basic products."

"Today dozens of different sizes, styles, types and patterns of the most commonplace articles are placed in the market by manufacturers who must possess special equipment and skill to produce these endless variations. Merchants accumulate great stocks, which turn but slowly because of the excessive diversity and lack of interchangeability in their components. Because of this situation many manufacturers and distributors favor co-operation for simplification and standardization."

"The saving in national effort through such co-operation as demonstrated by many well known examples of simplification and standardization, runs into millions of dollars. There is a great area still untouched, in which the application of these waste-eliminating measures may well save not millions, but billions. The rate of our advance must be, and will be in proportion to the extent in which we all co-operate for the elimination of waste."

Simplified practice, the booklet says, was begun during the war by the War Industries board's conservation division. Its values were such, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover as to justify its continuation as a peacetime activity. He then appointed a planning committee comprising A. W. Shaw of Chicago, E. W. McCullough of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and A. A. Stevenson of Philadelphia.

A New York bank has been unable to transact any business for six days because the combination on the vault is jammed. The department of justice ought to be called on to dissolve it as a combination in restraint of trade.—Southern Lumberman.

NOVEL DANCE TUESDAY Local Degree of Honor to Stage Darktown Costume Ball

Rastus, meet Liza! There will be a big surprise for all who attend the masquerade "coon" ball on Tuesday evening, February 3rd, at Elks hall, under the auspices of the Degree of Honor.

Everyone is invited to attend and those who cannot represent some negro character are asked to turn their talents along some other line of masquerading. This will be an entertainment new to Brainerd people and with the good music that is promised, will no doubt draw a large attendance.

MORE PYROTOL FOR FARMERS

County Agent E. G. Roth Now Taking Orders for a Carload of Explosives

IS IN CARTRIDGE FORM

Each Stick of Pyrotol is as Strong as Forty Per Cent Dynamite

County Agent E. G. Roth has received word that more government explosive, called Pyrotol, is available to farmers for land clearing, and is taking orders now for a carload for farmers in this county, to be shipped in the near future.

Pyrotol is a high explosive, composed largely of ground smokeless powder, remaining in the hands of the government after the war, and sodium nitrate. It is prepared for use in double-dipped paraffined cartridges, each weighing six pounds.

These cartridges are packed in wooden boxes, each containing 50 pounds of Pyrotol. The explosive is handled the same as dynamite. It is much more satisfactory to handle than other forms of explosive, because it has none of their ill effects, such as causing a headache or discoloring the hands. It should be kept in a dry place, and can be shot with good results at all ordinary temperatures.

Pyrotol may be shot with No. 6 caps, either by electricity or with a fuse. For every 200-pound order received, 100 caps will be given. The reason for this limited number is the fact that the government has only a small quantity of blasting caps on hand.

Each stick of Pyrotol is as strong as 40 per cent dynamite or the regulation stock of Sodotol, and at the price now offered by the government it is the cheapest explosive that has been ordered.

The government is offering the last of its explosives to the farmers of the county, especially those in cut-over areas, to assist them in their land-clearing programs, and since Crow Wing county is among the foremost in this improvement it is expected that there will be little difficulty in securing orders for a carload of Pyrotol, especially when local farmers realize that this is about the last of the cheap explosives obtainable.

PROF. CHEYNEY LECTURED HERE

Member of Faculty State Forestry College, St. Paul, in Instructional Address

AUSPICES MUSICAL CLUB

Pictured Forest Conditions and Remedies in Vivid Fashion

Prof. E. G. Cheyney of the State Forestry College, St. Paul, gave a very instructive lecture last evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Study Section and Forestry Commission of the Brainerd Musical club and the speaker was obtained through the cooperation of District Forest Ranger E. H. Rhodes. Besides the ladies of the Musical club, the Lions club, the Game Protective association were well represented in the audience of about 60 people.

A few people were quite disappointed and stayed away when they learned that Prof. Cheyney would not use the colored lantern slides as at first advertised, but those who came found that Prof. Cheyney is a speaker who can picture very vividly to his audience without lantern slides, the present forest conditions as found in Minnesota and the whole of the United States.

Prof. Cheyney first gave the history of Forestry in the United States, and told how, when the first settlers came from Europe in the early seventeenth century, from countries where there was such a shortage of timber that small brush and twigs for fuel purposes were a luxury and frame houses were only owned by the wealthy and settling on the Atlantic coast and finding themselves suddenly confronted by such vast forests of virgin timber, they were unable to conceive the possibility of there ever being a timber shortage, the Colonists became very wasteful. Large areas of magnificent hardwood timber and pine were cut down, rolled together and burned for the sake of clearing fields. Not until some early pioneers worked their way back across the Alleghany mountains into Kentucky in the latter part of the eighteenth century, did they know of the vast prairie regions to the west. Later, how it was only through the readily accessible timber supply of the Lake states and cheap lumber, that the great prairie states of the Mississippi valley were able to develop so fast. That the lumber men were not alone to blame for the wasteful methods used but they were only supplying what the people demanded, the best.

Prof. Cheyney also stated that Minnesota, although known only a few years ago as one of the leading lumbering states, is shipping in 80 per cent of the timber products used in the state and at an average of $18 per thousand in freight on lumber from the Pacific coast, a source of supply which is fast becoming exhausted. The answer to the forestry problem is this: There must be a bigger program of education and cooperation among the people of the state and tourists. The big thing is fire prevention. Ninety-six per cent of the cut over lands will come up to natural reproduction, if fire is kept out. The city of Minneapolis receives more money each year for fire protection than is provided for the whole forested area of the state, and yet their fire department would be utterly helpless without the cooperation of each inhabitant in reporting fires. The state should buy up cut over lands and a lower tax should be placed on land growing timber, with a yield tax, when cut.

The Musical club wish to thank President F. H. Gruenhagen and the Chamber of Commerce for the privilege and use of rooms.

MRS. F. W. FULLER PASSED AWAY

Death Occurred at Five O'clock on Thursday Morning Following Stroke of Paralysis

HUSBAND AND SON SURVIVE

Was a Member of the Episcopal Church and Was Active in the Local Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Frank W. Fuller passed away on Friday morning at five o'clock, following an illness caused by a stroke of paralysis, which occurred on January 15th.

Cora E. Hull was born in Wisconsin on April 14th, 1881. She was married to Mr. Fuller in Helena, Mont., on June 11th, 1907. Since that time the family has lived in Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota.

One child was born to this union, a son, Earl, aged 14 years, who with her husband are the only surviving relatives. A sister passed away about five years ago in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Fuller was a member of the Episcopal faith. Her only fraternal associations were centered in the Rebekah lodge. She was a devoted and loving wife and mother, and a true friend. She will be sorely missed in her home and by a large circle of friends.

The funeral will be held from the Odd Fellow hall on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

The body will be taken to the hall at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and will lie in state there until the hour of the funeral.

HOOVER URGES THE ELIMINATION OF INDUSTRIAL WASTE

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 30.—While we currently assume that great advancements in living standards are brought about by new and basic inventions, an even larger field for advancement of those standards is found in the steady elimination of our economic wastes. Secretary of Commerce Hoover says in the foreword of a booklet entitled "Simplified Practice—What is and What it Offers," issued by the Division of Simplified Practice of the Department of Commerce.

"The necessity of maintaining a high-wage level requires that all processes of manufacture and distribution be reduced to the lowest possible cost," Hoover wrote. "This can be done through the elimination of those wastes arising out of too high a degree of diversification in certain basic products."

"Today dozens of different sizes, styles, types and patterns of the most commonplace articles are placed in the market by manufacturers who must possess special equipment and skill to produce these endless variations. Merchants accumulate great stocks, which turn but slowly because of the excessive diversity and lack of interchangeability in their components. Because of this situation many manufacturers and distributors favor co-operation for simplification and standardization."

"The saving in national effort through such co-operation as demonstrated by many well known examples of simplification and standardization, runs into millions of dollars. There is a great area still untouched, in which the application of these waste-eliminating measures may well save not millions, but billions. The rate of our advance must be, and will be in proportion to the extent in which we all co-operate for the elimination of waste."

Simplified practice, the booklet says, was begun during the war by the War Industries board's conservation division. Its values were such, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover as to justify its continuation as a peacetime activity. He then appointed a planning committee comprising A. W. Shaw of Chicago, E. W. McCullough of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and A. A. Stevenson of Philadelphia.

HAYES-LUCAS LUMBER CO.

HARD TO PICK SUCCESSOR TO LEONARD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 30.—Retirement of Benny Leonard as the world's lightweight champion within a short time after Johnny Dundee had resigned as the featherweight champion, leaves the international situation in two important boxing divisions in a muddled state.

It will take some time before any successor to the two champions can obtain European recognition of a title, because even when championships were following the regular form of succession, European boxing bodies were none too willing to concede the championship in any class where European competition had been of a minor quality.

In seeking the successor to Johnny Dundee as the featherweight champion, the New York Boxing Commission decided upon an elimination tournament among the most prominent contenders with the crown as the prize for the survivor. Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., survived the final round of the elimination by stopping Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, in a sensational bout, and he was recognized by the New York commission as the champion.

There are only two outstanding challengers in the 135-pound class—Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., and Sid Terris of New York. Jack Bernstein is a good fighter, but he has been outpointed in two bouts with Mandell.

Tex Rickard has Mandell and Terris matched to meet in the Garden next month, and if one of them should win by a very decisive margin or by a knockout, he would be in a good position to claim the championship. Bernstein has a lot of influence behind him and he probably will be forced back into a contending place.

Leonard's retirement did not come as a surprise. It has been known for some time that he would have to retire or enter the welterweight class and some of his critics said that he would have trouble in making the welterweight limit. His friends knew also that he has tired of the ring and that he was badly bitten by the stage bug and wanted to get a start as an actor before he gave up the fighting game.

Leonard was the fourth champion to retire. Jack McAuliffe gave up the lightweight championship years ago. He was the only world's champion who retired as a champion without having been beaten once in his career. Jim Jeffries retired as the heavyweight champion and then came back eight years later and was knocked out by Jack Johnson. Johnny Dundee resigned as the featherweight champion, but he is to continue boxing in heavier classes. Jack Dempsey probably will be the next champion to surrender his title. He has plenty of money to support him in luxury and he can earn a fine living in the movies and on the stage. He has tired of the ring and his friends insist that he wants to marry and settle down.

If Dempsey should retire there would be a terrific scramble for the heavyweight championship.

CURB AMATEUR SPORT PROMOTER—FARRELL

When the rules that govern amateur sport are being changed to draw tighter and stricter interpretations of what constitutes an amateur athlete, there should be a rule considered that would define an amateur promoter.

If there is a limit placed upon what a tennis player, a golf player or a track athlete can ask as expense money for engaging in amateur competition, there should be a limit set for the money that the promoting club can make out of the athletes.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association insists upon the right to tell tennis players how they cannot make a living in their private life. The association insists that a player cannot capitalize on the reputation he has earned on the tennis court and the association at the same time should see that its affiliated clubs do not capitalize on the reputation of star players.

The tennis association is not picked out as a target in this connection. The same holds good for the United States Golf Association and the Amateur Athletic Union. The golf association is not as radical as the tennis association in dictating the economic affairs of its constituents, but big money gates are of prospect of the near future, if they haven't been in the past.

When the Tilden controversy was waging in the tennis association, friends of the world's champion charged that a certain clique of the association had set out to get Tilden, because he had refused to compete in several of the fashionable invitation tournaments that are classic events on society's summer program.

Several of these clubs assumed the right to announce Tilden, Richards and other star players as entries in their tournament without receiving entries from the players. Tilden insisted that he had the right to make his own schedule and that he wasn't a dummy that could be passed around from place to place where his presence would do the most good in drawing a crowd.

Instead of entering the fashionable invitation tournaments at Newport, Seabright, Nassau and other society gathering places, Tilden decided upon exhibition tours that would take him to places where so much wasn't known about tennis and where star players were not so many actors or servants called upon to furnish an excuse for society to display clothes and consume tea at the Wimbledon tea hour. Tilden said he was in tennis for the good of the game and that he wasn't doing anything for tennis by hobnobbing with the leaders at Newport and Seabright.

Vinnie Richards failed to show up once at one of the elite tournaments and he was "turned in" to the association. It was learned later that Richards had not entered the tournament and that he couldn't be charged with even a breach of etiquette.

The tennis association, however, uses the money derived from tournaments in which it shares in the receipts for the promotion of tennis. It takes a lot of money to maintain the efficient organization it has, to finance foreign trips of American teams and to promote the Davis Cup competition.

The West Side Club of Forest Hills has to pay for a fine new stadium largely from the proceeds of tournaments held there and it is having a task doing it. But when the stadium is paid for, the club might reduce the price of admission, because the receipts some time will reach the size that will cause speculation as to what is being done with the money.

DEMPSEY AND HIS
MANAGER PARTING

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, the former world's heavyweight pugilist and the latter his manager, have come to the parting of the ways, according to a story printed in the Los Angeles Herald today.

It was reliably reported that a statement on the matter would be given out by Dempsey later in the day. This morning neither he nor Kearns could be reached.

The Herald said it was informed that dissolution of the famous partnership, which has stood for eight years and made a fortune for the "two Jacks," would end May 20, and on that day Dempsey would marry Estelle Taylor, movie actress—changing one partnership for another.

WILLIE PLANT'S
VICTORY RIVALS
NURMI'S FEAT

New York, Jan. 30.—Two more world's records, giving him a high run of 15 since he arrived in this country, were marked up Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden by Pavao Nurmi, the unstoppable Finn.

Setting a killing pace that caused Joie Ray, America's best, to quit after a few laps, Nurmi won the one-mile and a half feature of the Milrose games in the record time of 6:39 3-5 and he flashed past the mile and one-eighth mark in a new record time of 5:30 1-5.

While Europe's greatest runner was living up to his reputation, the greatest walker from the other side failed when Ugo Frigerio, Olympic champion at Antwerp and Paris, was badly beaten by Willie Plant, the American champion.

Plant got away in the lead in a 5,000 meter race and walked the colorful little Italian almost through the track, winning the event by almost three-quarters of a lap in 22:06 3-5. It was a record as the event never had been contested on an indoor track.

The veteran, George Goulding, Canadian champion, who owns most of the existing records, was ordered out of the race by his physicians who said a bad heart might result in a fatality. Goulding had trained a year for the race.

With Goulding out, Plant and Frigerio went it alone. Frigerio never had a chance.

NURMI RUNS

JOIE RAY TO
DEFEAT TUESDAY

TRAILS HIM 7 LAPS AND THEN
SPRINTS 10 YARDS
AHEAD

WINS THREE-QUARTER MILE RACE
IN WORLD'S RECORD
TIME

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Jan. 29.—Charley Paddock and Loren Murchison ought to take on Pavao Nurmi now and see what they can do with him. The flying Finn has done everything now but beat our American sprinters, and there is no telling that he can't do that without a trial.

Nurmi turned in the most impressive race of his career Tuesday night when he ran four of America's best middle distance men through the track and won the three-quarters mile race in the world's record time of 3:03 4-5 seconds. It was the 13th world's record he has made since he arrived in this country.

Nurmi trailed Joie Ray, Lloyd Hahn, Jimmy Connelly and Leo Larrivee until the bell sent the field into the final lap. The Finn then cut loose with a tremendous burst of speed and brought 10,000 spectators to their feet shrieking wildly as he broke the tape 10 yards ahead of the floundering Ray, who had not been beaten at that distance in five years.

The well known "works" was tried on Pavao in a desperate attempt for an American victory. The change of pace was tried against the Olympic hero on the theory that he couldn't do his stuff, unless he could set his own methodical and perfectly timed pace. Ray went out like a flash in the lead and his three mates tried to keep Nurmi away from him. They pocketed him and elbowed him on the turns and tried to run him out. But when Nurmi decided to go out he went out and mowed down the field. Ray was then burnt out completely, and he didn't have another thing left for the final sprint.

Several other astounding performances marked the first night of the annual Milrose games in Madison Square Garden.

Ugo Frigerio, Olympic walking champion, turned a handicap race of three miles into a vaudeville act. The little Italian sped around the track giving the fascist salute to the Italians and waving a handkerchief in glory to a crowd that thoroughly enjoyed the comedy. It was a cinch for him.

Willie Ritola, the arch-enemy of Nurmi, made his ninth world's record in four days, which is something of a stunt. At the three-mile race he made a new world's record of 14:04, beating the mark of 14:11 2-5, which he made last Saturday night. He also made new marks for 2 1/2, 3 1/2 and 3 3/4 miles, bettering the five previous marks that he had made last Saturday.

Harold Osborne, Olympic and world's champion high jumper, made a new indoor record when he went over the bar at 6 feet, 6 1/4 inches. The former record was 6 feet 5 1/4 inches held by Roy Brown and Dick Landon.

"If they could not beat that Nurmi at the short distance of three-quarters miles, they'll never beat him at any longer distance. It is quite possible that the Finn can do his stuff even at a half mile," a prominent coach said today.

FARMER BURNS
BETS HANSON CAN
BEAT WAYNE MUNN

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 30.—A sum of $10,000 in good coin of Uncle Sam's realm, Farmer Burns, veteran wrestler, will wager that his protégé, Charley Hanson, can defeat Wayne Munn in a finish match.

Burns, who is here today with Hanson, who wrestles three local mat men tonight, in an hour handicap, declares that he will put up the money at any bank.

He also offers to give a prize of $1,000 to the man who can get Munn's signature to a contract to meet Hanson.

Hanson has been creating considerable havoc in the mat game for the past two years, but the members of the so-called "mat trust" have been giving him the cold shoulder.

O'CONNELL'S LATEST MOVE
SEEMS DISCONCERTING

(By United Press)

New York, Jan. 30.—Investigation of the Dolan-O'Connell baseball scandal by the district attorney's office may be blocked permanently by the demand of Jimmy O'Connell for immunity if he presents himself for examination.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Brothers, who is in charge of the investigation, practically admitted that the testimony of the several players already examined has been only a repetition of what given by Commissioner Landis and that little may be accomplished if Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan are not examined again.

Brothers received a telegram from O'Connell yesterday saying that he was leaving California for New York as soon as possible. He heard later that O'Connell had retained counsel and would demand immunity before he would submit to examination.

"It would be impossible for me to grant immunity to anyone at this time," Brothers said.

No word had been heard from Dolan since he was asked to appear, although Bill Fallon said when the investigation by the district attorney was suggested that his client would be willing to appear. It is possible, however, that Dolan may wait until Fallon, who is very busy now on several big cases, is able to handle his case.

SILVER LOVING CUP
IS GIVEN WELSH

Clifford Welsh received a silver loving cup in the free-throw tournament in basketball at the local Y. M. C. A.

There were 23 contestants in this tournament which lasted over three weeks. Each man was given 100 free throws at the basket from various floor positions, and Mr. Welsh won with 72 out of the possible 100.

GIRLS' QUINT IN GAME TONIGHT

CONTEST FOLLOWS Y. M. C. A.
PRELIMINARY TILT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Those who have witnessed the former games played by the local high school girls, will no doubt remember Edna Turner's remarkable ability at finding the hoop, and, if we remember right, several of the spectators have expressed the desire to see a more evenly matched contest in the near future, and thus judge the real stamina and playing ability of the Brainerd team.

Tonight at 8:15, the fast Crosby-Ironton normal girls will meet the locals in the best game of the year and fans are promised an interesting game, since the normal girls intend to keep up a record of many years' standing, and Brainerd wishes to avenge two defeats of last year. Trask, Beggs, Turner, Michael, Storn and Captain Reuter will probably form the starting lineup.

The Hi-Y quint, with Martius Seeger, captain, will meet the Y. M. C. A. Cubs in a boys' preliminary which is scheduled for 7:15.

Admission will be 25c for adults and high school students, and 15c for grade pupils. Office and store employees, who because of "pay day" will find it impossible to get to the high school early, will find it unnecessary to rush as the main event will not start until 8:15 or later.

The final or semi-final score, picturing the outcome of the Brainerd-Wadena game at Wadena this evening, will be announced after the girls' game in the local gym tonight. Why put off until tomorrow what you can hear today? Remember, at the close of the Crosby Normal vs. High School game!

HARD TO PICK SUCCESSOR TO LEONARD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 30.—Retirement of Benny Leonard as the world's lightweight champion within a short time after Johnny Dundee had resigned as the featherweight champion, leaves the international situation in two important boxing divisions in a muddled state.

It will take some time before any successor to the two champions can obtain European recognition of a title, because even when championships were following the regular form of succession, European boxing bodies were none too willing to concede the championship in any class where European competition had been of a minor quality.

In seeking the successor to Johnny Dundee as the featherweight champion, the New York Boxing Commission decided upon an elimination tournament among the most prominent contenders with the crown as the prize for the survivor. Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., survived the final round of the elimination by stopping Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, in a sensational bout, and he was recognized by the New York commission as the champion.

There are only two outstanding challengers in the 135-pound class—Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., and Sid Terris of New York. Jack Bernstein is a good fighter, but he has been outpointed in two bouts with Mandell.

Tex Rickard has Mandell and Terris matched to meet in the Garden next month, and if one of them should win by a very decisive margin or by a knockout, he would be in a good position to claim the championship. Bernstein has a lot of influence behind him and he probably will be forced back into a contending place.

Leonard's retirement did not come as a surprise. It has been known for some time that he would have to retire or enter the welterweight class and some of his critics said that he would have trouble in making the welterweight limit. His friends knew also that he has tired of the ring and that he was badly bitten by the stage bug and wanted to get a start as an actor before he gave up the fighting game.

Leonard was the fourth champion to retire. Jack McAuliffe gave up the lightweight championship years ago. He was the only world's champion who retired as a champion without having been beaten once in his career. Jim Jeffries retired as the heavyweight champion and then came back eight years later and was knocked out by Jack Johnson. Johnny Dundee resigned as the featherweight champion, but he is to continue boxing in heavier classes. Jack Dempsey probably will be the next champion to surrender his title. He has plenty of money to support him in luxury and he can earn a fine living in the movies and on the stage. He has tired of the ring and his friends insist that he wants to marry and settle down.

If Dempsey should retire there would be a terrific scramble for the heavyweight championship.

CURB AMATEUR SPORT PROMOTER—FARRELL

When the rules that govern amateur sport are being changed to draw tighter and stricter interpretations of what constitutes an amateur athlete, there should be a rule considered that would define an amateur promoter.

If there is a limit placed upon what a tennis player, a golf player or a track athlete can ask as expense money for engaging in amateur competition, there should be a limit set for the money that the promoting club can make out of the athletes.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association insists upon the right to tell tennis players how they cannot make a living in their private life. The association insists that a player cannot capitalize on the reputation he has earned on the tennis court and the association at the same time should see that its affiliated clubs do not capitalize on the reputation of star players.

The tennis association is not picked out as a target in this connection. The same holds good for the United States Golf Association and the Amateur Athletic Union. The golf association is not as radical as the tennis association in dictating the economic affairs of its constituents, but big money gates are of prospect of the near future, if they haven't been in the past.

When the Tilden controversy was waging in the tennis association, friends of the world's champion charged that a certain clique of the association had set out to get Tilden, because he had refused to compete in several of the fashionable invitation tournaments that are classic events on society's summer program.

Several of these clubs assumed the right to announce Tilden, Richards and other star players as entries in their tournament without receiving entries from the players. Tilden insisted that he had the right to make his own schedule and that he wasn't a dummy that could be passed around from place to place where his presence would do the most good in drawing a crowd.

Instead of entering the fashionable invitation tournaments at Newport, Seabright, Nassau and other society gathering places, Tilden decided upon exhibition tours that would take him to places where so much wasn't known about tennis and where star players were not so many actors or servants called upon to furnish an excuse for society to display clothes and consume tea at the Wimbledon tea hour. Tilden said he was in tennis for the good of the game and that he wasn't doing anything for tennis by hob-nobbing with the leaders at Newport and Seabright.

Vinnie Richards failed to show up once at one of the elite tournaments and he was "turned in" to the association. It was learned later that Richards had not entered the tournament and that he couldn't be charged with even a breach of etiquette.

The tennis association, however, uses the money derived from tournaments in which it shares in the receipts for the promotion of tennis. It takes a lot of money to maintain the efficient organization it has, to finance foreign trips of American teams and to promote the Davis Cup competition.

The West Side Club of Forest Hills has to pay for a fine new stadium largely from the proceeds of tournaments held there and it is having a task doing it. But when the stadium is paid for, the club might reduce the price of admission, because the receipts some time will reach the size that will cause speculation as to what is being done with the money.

DEMPSEY AND HIS
MANAGER PARTING

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, the former world's heavyweight pugilist and the latter his manager, have come to the parting of the ways, according to a story printed in the Los Angeles Herald today.

It was reliably reported that a statement on the matter would be given out by Dempsey later in the day. This morning neither he nor Kearns could be reached.

The Herald said it was informed that dissolution of the famous partnership, which has stood for eight years and made a fortune for the "two Jacks," would end May 20, and on that day Dempsey would marry Estelle Taylor, movie actress—changing one partnership for another.

WILLIE PLANT'S
VICTORY RIVALS
NURMI'S FEAT

New York, Jan. 30.—Two more world's records, giving him a high run of 15 since he arrived in this country, were marked up Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden by Pavao Nurmi, the unstoppable Finn.

Setting a killing pace that caused Joie Ray, America's best, to quit after a few laps, Nurmi won the one-mile and a half feature of the Milrose games in the record time of 6:39 3-5 and he flashed past the mile and one-eighth mark in a new record time of 5:30 1-5.

While Europe's greatest runner was living up to his reputation, the greatest walker from the other side failed when Ugo Frigerio, Olympic champion at Antwerp and Paris, was badly beaten by Willie Plant, the American champion.

Plant got away in the lead in a 5,000 meter race and walked the colorful little Italian almost through the track, winning the event by almost three-quarters of a lap in 22:06 3-5. It was a record as the event never had been contested on an indoor track.

The veteran, George Goulding, Canadian champion, who owns most of the existing records, was ordered out of the race by his physicians who said a bad heart might result in a fatality. Goulding had trained a year for the race.

With Goulding out, Plant and Frigerio went it alone. Frigerio never had a chance.

NURMI RUNS

JOIE RAY TO
DEFEAT TUESDAY

TRAILS HIM 7 LAPS AND THEN
SPRINTS 10 YARDS
AHEAD

IN WORLD'S RECORD
TIME

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Jan. 29.—Charley Paddock and Loren Murchison ought to take on Pavao Nurmi now and see what they can do with him. The flying Finn has done everything now but beat our American sprinters, and there is no telling that he can't do that without a trial.

Nurmi turned in the most impressive race of his career Tuesday night when he ran four of America's best middle distance men through the track and won the three-quarters mile race in the world's record time of 3:03 4-5 seconds. It was the 13th world's record he has made since he arrived in this country.

Nurmi trailed Joie Ray, Lloyd Hahn, Jimmy Connelly and Leo Larrievue until the bell sent the field into the final lap. The Finn then cut loose with a tremendous burst of speed and brought 10,000 spectators to their feet shrieking wildly as he broke the tape 10 yards ahead of the floundering Ray, who had not been beaten at that distance in five years.

The well known "works" was tried on Pavao in a desperate attempt for an American victory. The change of pace was tried against the Olympic hero on the theory that he couldn't do his stuff, unless he could set his own methodical and perfectly timed pace. Ray went out like a flash in the lead and his three mates tried to keep Nurmi away from him. They pocketed him and elbowed him on the turns and tried to run him out. But when Nurmi decided to go out he went out and mowed down the field Ray was then burnt out completely, and he didn't have another thing left for the final sprint.

Several other astounding performances marked the first night of the annual Milrose games in Madison Square Garden.

Ugo Frigerio, Olympic walking champion, turned a handicap race of three miles into a vaudeville act. The little Italian sped around the track giving the fascist salute to the Italians and waving a handkerchief in glee to a crowd that thoroughly enjoyed the comedy. It was a cinch for him.

Willie Ritola, the arch-enemy of Nurmi, made his ninth world's record in four days, which is something of a stunt. At the three-mile race he made a new world's record of 14:04, beating the mark of 14:11 2-5, which he made last Saturday night. He also made new marks for 2 1/4, 2 1/2 and 2 3/4 miles, bettering the five previous marks that he had made last Saturday.

Harold Osborne, Olympic and world's champion high jumper, made a new indoor record when he went over the bar at 6 feet, 6 1/4 inches. The former record was 6 feet 5 1/4 inches held by Roy Brown and Dick Landon.

"If they could not beat that Nurmi at the short distance of three-quarters miles, they'll never beat him at any longer distance. It is quite possible that the Finn can do his stuff even at a half mile," a prominent coach said today.
